DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Invention I in the reply filed on 05-30-2006 is acknowledged.

2. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 6 is indefinite as being directed to an apparatus but failing to recite structural limitations to the define the claimed apparatus.

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 1,2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 1 and 2 are directed to a computer implemented method of calculation where the inputs are numbers and the results are also numbers. Claim 6 is directed to a non-specific apparatus implementing the method. In order for a claimed invention that is directed to such a computer implemented method or a non specific apparatus that performs calculations according to a mathematical algorithm to be statutory, the claimed invention must accomplish a practical application. That is the claimed invention must transform an article or physical object to a different state or thing, or produce a useful, concrete and tangible result. State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74, 47 USPQ2d at 1601-02. Also see "Interim Guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications for Patent Subject Matter Eligibility", OG Notices: 22 November 2005. It is clear from claims 1,2 and 6 that the claims merely involves calculations and manipulations of data in performing computations. The claimed invention does not result in a physical transformation. The result of the invention is a mere numerical value without a practical application recited in the claims and thus is not a real-work result. therefore, the result is not useful, concrete and tangible. Therefore, the 1,2 and 6 are directed to non-statutory subject matter as the claims fail to assert a practical application to the invention.

Claims 4 and 5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
